MYSJSU

This is a lecture course with many in-class active learning exercises. All course resources can be found on the GLST179 Canvas webpage using your 9-digit SJSU ID and password. You are responsible for regularly checking this website for the latest information and communication. Please log in and follow the ‘Getting Started’ steps. It is easiest to reach me via email but do consult the syllabus first, or you might receive an “it’s in the syllabus,” reply.

Course Description

University Catalog: Course is designed for majors to help them gain coherence in their theoretical knowledge, factual grounding, international living, personal aptitudes, and career aspirations. It will also give them experience in interdisciplinary research through preparation of a major scholarly paper. The format includes discussion, group analysis, visiting professors, and individual work.

This is a capstone course examining global studies that also delves into interconnected themes and critical assessment of issues affecting the contemporary world. The outcome of this course is to assess the degree to which students have individually achieved department Program Learning Objectives (PLO) specified for its majors. This course also aims to prepare graduates for postgrad productivity, so in addition to capstone discussions and exercises each student will develop a CV or resume, cover letter, and portfolio. Thus, the course will be a nice balance between theoretical discussions and action-based exercises.

Course Goals

Upon successful completion of this course Global Studies students will have a portfolio that demonstrates:

- GLST PLO 1. An interdisciplinary understanding of complex global events and processes of - globalization in relationship to culture, politics, gender studies, sustainability, and foreign language.

- GLST PLO 2. The ability to write, speak, research, and critically analyze complex global events and processes of globalization.
- GLST PLO 3. Analysis, synthesis, and interpretation of texts, images, and experiences, demonstrating quantitative literacy, innovation of thought and creation of theoretical or practical solutions to global problems.
- GLST PLO 4. A critical understanding of the ethical implications of global citizenship, informed by global awareness and cross-cultural understanding.

Required Readings

Weekly required academic articles are provided to you on Canvas. Additional materials are listed below:

Other Readings (Print or Audiobook):

- Noah, Trevor. 2016. Born a crime: Stories from a South African childhood. New York: Spiegel and Grau.
- King, Thomas. 2013. An inconvenient Indian: A curious account of native people in North America. University of Minnesota Press.
- Klosterman, Chuck. 2016. But what if we're wrong?: Thinking about the present as if it were the past. London: Penguin Books.
- You will also be re-reading the most impactful book from your undergraduate experience in a GLST course held no later than Spring 2016.

Required Technology Accounts

You need to have the following account to be active during this course.

- Portfolio <http://www.sjsu.edu/at/ec/Portfolio/>

Students should also take advantage of all that Spartan Career Center offers <http://www.sjsu.edu/careercenter/>

Library Liaison

You can seek assistance from Nyle Monday in the MLK library at nyle.monday@sjsu.edu or (408) 808-2041.

Course Requirements and Assignments

SJSU classes are designed such that in order to be successful, it is expected that students will spend a minimum of forty-five hours for each unit of credit (normally three hours per unit per week), including preparing for class, participating in course activities, completing assignments, and so on.

- 1) Active Participation during all in-class exercises is mandatory and imperative to one's overall success in this course. There are several class sessions when you will be presenting your assignments to get credit. These participations will be varied from reading discussions, peer reviews, food, film, and studio experiences and cannot be made up if absent.
- 2) During your undergraduate education, you have done considerable reading and writing. Select the book you found to be most pivotal in your early GLST education. The one you loved (note: not just the one assigned last semester)! Dig up what you wrote about this book, and revisit the assignment by rereading the book through a capstone lens – that of a senior on the cusp of graduation, and as one having greater wisdom and expanded perspective. Then Rewrite this assignment. To get full credit you must turn in three parts in one pdf file in the following order: 1) a short description of the original assignment followed by your original submission, 2) a track changes revision to this writing displaying all mark ups, and 3) your final rewrite.

- 3) Professional development materials are necessary for postgraduate academic or professional successes. You will prepare a Resume or Curriculum Vitae (depending on whether you plan to pursue employment, or graduate school respectively) plus a captivating Cover Letter telling a reader what you have achieved and the proven attributes/skills you can bring to an opportunity. You will also write a 500-word Personal Statement that tells us who you are and why you are a top candidate. There are many excellent web resources and tutorials available to assist with your professional development and personal statement preparations, but take advantage of the SJSU career center too.
- 4) The Ignite Talk is an opportunity to inform an audience about progress or changes in a contemporary human rights issue. Ignite (sometimes called spark talks) are presentations covering highly specific topics told in a 20-slide, 5-minute format. Slides must be automated to display images only and autoforward every 15-seconds without being touched by a speaker. This is fast, so the speaker must be well rehearsed and all is technology polished. Talks may be recorded using so be sure to look professional and create a shining example of your verbal communication skills.
- 5) In a world of viral sound bites and headlines complex information must be communicated for immediate comprehension. This is often best achieved through graphics, infographics, charts, graph, and maps (not just words on a page). Each student must create a Visualization to convey scientific findings from the headline “Our trashy technosphere: people appear to have deposited a layer of waste across Earth’s surface that weighs 100,000 times more than all of humanity.” This will be printed in color on 8.5x11 paper and put on display for student competition.
- 6) Three Books, all popular reads, have been selected to accompany academic readings for conference-style discussion or debate. Students will be addressing text-specific questions selected and moderated by the instructor. The goal is for readers to tackle different perspectives or approaches to answering each question.
- 7) To celebrate food culture we will have a Potluck dinner. Students will be tasked to recreate (from scratch using authentic ingredients) a dish from the world regional cuisines sampled during the previous week as prepared by local restaurants. Bring enough to share with fifteen classmates.
- 8) A complete and impressive Portfolio, using portfolium, which highlights the breadth of your knowledge, skills, and experiences while in the Department of Geography & Global Studies is the expectation of this course. Each student portfolio must contain: at least one assignment submission per PLO, plus all professional development materials (resume/CV, cover letter, and letter of recommendation), the re-writing sample, and a personal statement. Any submission from existing GLST work must be flawlessly revised per previous instructor feedback. Examples of previous coursework: professional reports such as activated alleyways, a technology white paper, infographic, maps/charts/figures, recorded presentations, writings (in all languages spoken), code, story maps, review articles, statement of research, National Parks landscape photography, artworks, etc.). Consider your portfolio audience and curate your work for interesting, eye-catching content. The Ignite video, science visualization, and PLO artwork created during this course may make for wonderful new additions to your portfolio.

Final Exam

During the final exam, we will watch Samsara and interpret how this non-narrative experimental film represents your understanding of the world based on experiences and studies while at SJSU.
